

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

Web	It is important that ASU become an institution of choice.	No	No	The vision of ASU is to become an institution of choice for students in the region, state, nation and world.
Web	That ASU continually strives to exceed the expectations of its students, the community, the State of Texas, the faculty/staff and all other constituents that it serves. That ASU rises to meet the growing challenges of accessibility and affordability of higher education. That ASU creates "value" for its constituents and the community. "Value" in this case can be economic, social, cultural or emotional. That ASU seeks to build partnerships with business and	No. I believe that this "vision statement" is very limiting. It only addresses the students learning experience. It does not invoke a "vision" for the institution nor the direction it (ASU) seeks to go in the future.	No, I do not believe it does. Per the definition provided: What is a Vision Statement? A stretch statement that pronounces what the University aspires to be. Why is a Vision important? Robert Browning (1812-1889), a Victorian poet, observed, Ah, but a mans [or womans] reach should exceed his [or her] grasp, or whats a heaven for? The same is true for organizations. A vision statement allows us to explore what could be. I contest that we are already "educating a	As mentioned earlier, I believe that this statement is far too limiting for an institution like ASU. I believe that a further "stretch" is needed when crafting this vision... for example: "Angelo State University, a member of the Texas Tech University system, aspires to be a thriving student-centered, community-engaged, nationally recognized university known for integrity, academic excellence, service to others and innovation."

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	industry to impact the economic strength and stability of San Angelo and surrounding communities.		diverse student body to become intellectually and culturally prepared to thrive as responsible leaders in a changing world"Even if we were not already doing the aforementioned, this statement still only describes a part of ASU...the student experience. A comprehensive university the size and scope of ASU should seek to do much more than just focus on the student experience.
E-mail					The draft vision statement, as written, strikes me as (1) being very general and (2) descriptive of the present situation. If we intend to move beyond what currently exists, then we should articulate that "future destination" in the vision, and include some detail that hints at our future role in the community, state, and nation. For example, should our collective vision include references to economic development, growth, efficiency, and quality? Maybe I'm jaded by the current rash of vague political promises in the news, but I would hope that our new vision statement offers some substance to help internal and external customers see exactly where the university is headed.
e-mail	To train students in their fields to either take jobs or be prepared for	No. It does not give a vision for what this university aspires towards which is a	No. It is not a vision statement that reflects what we will be in the	I would target our strengths and create a vision statement designating what we graduate and professional schools.	doctoral granting university with strong graduate programs and scholarship.	future.	see ourselves in the future. I would definitely omit "responsible leaders" from the statement. We do not have a curriculum to train leaders and we do not have a mechanism to assess if they have become leaders.

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

web	Well from this statement: diverse student body, intellectual and cultural preparations.	Too much is changing globally today to have a vision of over 10 years. I think we should stick with five and then look to adjust as needed after 5 years has past.	I almost like the mission statement better as a vision and the vision more as the mission statement. Mission statement need to be simple and direct. If we can't prove in some objective way that we are accomplishing the mission then we are in trouble.	I would use this as a foundation for a new mission statement. We need to make sure we define terms such as "responsible leaders" and "thrive" in a way that will allow us to show objectively that we are accomplishing our mission and vision. Also, what is "Culturally prepared" supposed to mean and how do we do that here at ASU now?
web	Growth, keeping up with new technologies.	Yes		I like it.
web				nothing

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

web	Teaching our students to be good, successful leaders.	Yes, because it addresses the issue of leadership.	Yes	Nothing.
Art Gallery	Should "become" be replaced with "be?" To be intellectually and culturally prepared Future of ASU – Always strive for excellence – think about consequences of decisions – don't change for change sake.				Someone agreed to this statement
Art Gallery	What if the vision statement became the mission statement? The vision could speak more to the future perhaps: in a perfect world and at a perfect ASU, we'd like to see (or have or do)
Art Gallery	How will we define a "diverse student

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other body"? How will this definition drive what we do in terms of recruitment, retention and student support?
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

Art Gallery	I definitely agree that non-traditional students need more courses in evening hours. Also, I do not think become should be replaced with be. We should all continue to work on growing or becoming, never become stagnant/
Art Gallery	A diverse student body should not just be having different sex and race. Age should be an important factor in develop of student body (non trad's)
Art Gallery	I agree with the comment that we need to look at

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	courses for non-traditional students other than 8-12
Art Gallery	#2 this does look like a vision for 15+ years but I do think we should switch the mission/vision. And, if we did look at the mission as our vision – I still agree that it is a good vision for 15+ years.
Art Gallery	I would add technologically prepared along with intellectually and culturally prepared and make this the mission.				Someone else agreed with this statement regarding technology.
Art Gallery	I feel this statement is perfect) well, very good) and I fully agree with it.
Art Gallery	This vision is too soft and fuzzy. It presents no real “stretch” statement Just a lot of “higher				Someone else agreed with this statement.

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	ed speak" that provides no real direction.
Art Gallery	I really like the vision statements. It is important that our vision emphasizes the educational role of ASU. However, this statement seems more like ASU's mission and I'm not certain that it provides a "stretch".
Art Gallery	Yes, reverse mission and vision Yes, "become" should be changed to "be" Yes, technologically prepared or some such
Art Gallery	Not everyone needs to or wants to be "a leader" Being an educated follower and good citizen is just as important. Change reference to leaders.

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

Art Gallery	Becoming intellectually and culturally prepared is a great stretch statement. With a growing Hispanic population we need to do more in the way of scholarship awards to this group. Staff and faculty numbers should mirror population or you will never retain these students.
Art Gallery	It is important to consider the diversity of the student body. This must include all aspects – not just race or gender but also age, family – nontraditional student are becoming the "norm".

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

Art Gallery	Become to Be – Agree What are we doing to make our students aware of cultures? More international students and course work are essential to the success of our future grads. How are we preparing students for change???
Art Gallery	Yes, this vision statement is important to me and I like it. I would like to see it represented in pictures as well as words.
Art Gallery	Good statement – should be the mission
Art Gallery	The vision statement is very good. I like it! I agree about

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	changing "become" to "be".
e-mail	ASU must make changes in order to stay relevant.
e-mail	Quality research and student learning	Absolutely not. Focus is on education, not learning. Lack of any reference to research is most unusual for a university.	Actually seems the opposite. Focus is narrow only on becoming leaders.	Learning focus, include research component and broader outcome than leaders.
e-mail	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◇ Diversifying the student body both culturally and geographically ◇ Being a top quality teaching institution ◇ Preparing students to understand the world outside this geographic region 	Yes. I think that it encompasses the teaching mission, the university's commitment to diversity and its commitment to fostering understanding among people.	I think that it does, for the most part.	I would add the languages 'in a variety of fields' after 'responsible leaders' to the mission statement because I think it reflects a bit better the diversity of the goals of the students. But that is just a quibble.
Rassman	More degree plans, wider education	yes	no
Rassman	Vision seems less progressive than

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	the mission statement. I feel like the vision is what all universities are already doing (including ASU) The vision should be more what we want to achieve not what we're already doing. I almost agree with the buzz about the mission and vision being switched.
Rassman	The mission statement should have more about diversity in it and be longer. Although the vision statement is very well done and does go beyond the mission statement.
Rassman	Including the cultural element in Vision 1 seems to

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	me to require it to be addressed in the mission statement.
Rassman	Vision statement should be part of the mission statement. I do not see anything that states what we can be or what we will be. Offering a more diverse curriculum may help achieve the goals more choices for people to explore.
Rassman	The vision statement should somehow be incorporated in with the mission statement. Or maybe switch them both around, have the vision statement be the mission statement and mission statement be the vision statement.
Rassman	Vision statement must include

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other service learning component! We need to reinforce service, community and volunteerism.
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

Rassman	What do we mean by "leaders"? We are education leaders as opposed to what?
Web	I want to make sure we continue to serve the citizens of West Texas by providing a high quality education for them and their children. That means continuing to attract and support excellent faculty whose primary emphasis is on teaching, providing them with the resources they need to do a good job with their students, and not become distracted by other notions of what a university	In some ways, yes. I am not sure we need to prepare leaders as much as responsible citizens. I also am very wary of the word "diverse". In its pure form, I think a diverse student body is a great idea. Unfortunately, in education and elsewhere, diverse has come to mean favoring one racial or ethnic group over others. I think that is wrong.	Yes.	I would remove the loaded reference to diverse, and look less toward focus on leaders and more toward establishing solid and productive and informed citizens.

Source	1. What is important to you in terms of the future of ASU?	2. Does this statement reflect your vision of the University in five, ten, or fifteen years? Why or why not?	3. Is this Vision Statement a stretch beyond our Mission Statement?	4. What would you change? Why?	Other
--------	--	--	---	--------------------------------	-------

	might do.
Web	The vision statement sounds fine to me.	Yes	Yes – continues to demand greater excellence.	Nothing on this vision statement.	